

Gifts of Securities Arden Theatre Company

By transferring stock to the Arden that has appreciated in value, you may deduct the full market value of the gift without incurring tax on the gain on the value of the stock. If you own securities that are worth less than when you acquired them, it may be worthwhile from a tax standpoint to sell them, donate the proceeds, and claim a capital loss on your income.

It is the Arden's policy to receipt stock gifts by multiplying the average price on the day of the transfer by the number of stocks contributed.
